Breeding Industry Enters Governor's Economic Development Picture

JEFFREY A. CANNIZZO
Executive Director

When I began my job as Executive Director of New York Thoroughbred Breeders, Inc. more than five years ago, I found that I often had to fill this space in the New York Breeder with discouraging news, or, at best, only guarded optimism for better things down the road. These days I am able to report almost exclusively upbeat news, and this month is no exception. It never gets old!

Last month during the lead-up to Empire Showcase Day presented by the Fund, I had several important and productive meetings in Albany. I wanted to make sure the Governor's office was aware of the far-reaching success story of the revitalized Thoroughbred industry in the state, following the influx of video lottery terminal revenue into the New York Racing Association purse structure and Fund awards program. I especially wanted to stress our industry's ongoing positive contribution to the agricultural sector as a driver of local economies, tax-generator, and job-creator.

In preparation for these meetings, I wrote a letter to the Governor in collaboration with the New York Farm Bureau detailing the record-breaking success of August's Fasig-Tipton New York-bred yearling sale, which underscores just how much owners and horsemen want to buy New York-breds to race and win in New York these days. I also reiterated the point that breeders are now reinvesting in their businesses, buying farms, and creating jobs.

In October I met in person with members of the Governor's economic development team and Patrick Hooker (the Governor's Deputy Secretary of Agriculture) to urge them to include the story line of upstate success in the Thoroughbred breeding industry in their "big picture" economic development plan.

The first concrete result of these meetings came quickly in the form of Gov. Cuomo's very first press release on the Thoroughbred breeding industry, which went out the day before Empire Showcase Day and linked the day with the inaugural rollout of the "Taste NY" program at Belmont. The Governor called Empire Showcase Day "one of the most popular events at Belmont Park" and referred to Belmont as "the perfect venue to show off not only New York's world-class Thoroughbreds, but also the bountiful products that come from our agricultural sector." This is an extremely positive sign that the Governor is more than willing to embrace our industry as one of the state's signature agricultural assets. Our goal is getting the Thoroughbred breeding industry included in all appropriate state economic development programs.

On Showcase Day itself, your "world-class Thoroughbreds" certainly did you proud. Graded stakes winners Wired Bryan, Cluster of Stars (still undefeated!) and King Kreesa provided lots of star power; Effie Trinket and the mighty Saratoga Snacks were gritty in victory; while juvenile filly Miss Narcissist and former claim Palace demonstrated that both were rising stars. As always, it was a wonderful day of racing and, thanks to additional coverage by MSG Plus, a great boost for our breeding program. 🏇

ARTEMIS AGROTERA, THE LUMBER GUY, LONDON BRIDGE BREEDERS' CUP BOUND

Chester and Mary Broman's homebred Artemis Agrotera, a strong winner of the Oct. 5 Frizette Stakes (gr. I) at Belmont Park, is being prepared for a run at the Breeders' Cup Juvenile Fillies (gr. I) at Santa Anita Park.

Also bound for the West Coast is Barry K. Schwartz' homebred The Lumber Guy and London Bridge.

ADAM COGLIANESE

Artemis Agrotera winning the Frizette

The Lumber Guy, a 4-year-old son of Grand Slam will make his second run at the Xpressbet Sprint Stakes (gr. I). He was second in last year's Sprint after winning the Vosburgh Stakes (gr. I).

Waratah Thoroughbreds' 3-year-old London Bridge will go in the 1¼-mile Breeders' Cup Marathon (gr. II). Bred by Patricia S. Purdy, London Bridge has won three of seven starts in Europe this year for trainer Jo Hughes.

Like most everyone in the business, Artemis Agrotera's trainer, Mike Hushion is bullish on the state-bred program.

"There has been marked improvement in the state-bred program over the last five years," he said. "There are no more easy races. There are some serious horses in the allowance races now."

Allowance races...grade I stakes, and the Breeders' Cup, too.

Report of Mares Bred: What it Means for New York Breeders

The Jockey Club released its Report of Mares Bred for 2013 Oct. 17, and while New York state saw an advance in the number of stallions from 2012 to 2013 (60 to 62) and a decrease of 4.9% in the number of mares bred by New York stallions (from 1,641 to 1,560), that doesn't begin to tell the whole story of the state of the New York-bred program.

In 2012 32% (763) of the mares bred were to out-of-state stallions while 68% (1,641) went to New York stallions. The number of mares bred by New York stallions saw a substantial increase from 2011 to 2012 (1,147 to 1,641; up 43%). The majority of these new mares dropped their foals in New York and those who were not resident mares then had to be bred back to New York-based stallions for 2012. Those mares had the luxury in 2013 of being bred to out-of-state stallions once they became residents, so the expectation was there might be a drop this year in mares bred to New York stallions. There will be an estimated 35-40% additional mares bred to out-of-state stallions when the final reporting is done for 2013.

The fact the percentage of mares bred by New York stallions was only off 4.9% shows that many of the in-state mares were, in fact, returned to New York-based sires this year.

When combined with TJC's 2013 Live Foal Report that saw a 36.2% rise in New York-sired foals, a better picture of the state's program begins to come into focus.

Discreet Marq Rolls on in Pebbles

Patricia Generazio's homebred Discreet Marq, a 3-year-old filly by Discreet Cat—To Marquet, by Marquetry, rolled to another open company win Oct. 14 while taking the $200,000 Pebbles Stakes at Belmont Park. Discreet Marq covered the mile on turf in 1:34.19, edging Tapicat by three-quarters of a length as the 3-2 favorite.

Earlier this year the well-traveled gray/roan filly placed in two stakes at Gulfstream Park, won the Sands Point Stakes (gr. IIT) and Eventail Stakes at Belmont Park, shipped to Del Mar to win the Del Mar Oaks (gr. IT), then was a good second to Alterite in the Garden City Stakes (gr. IT) at Belmont Park. She has earned $705,900 and has won six of 12 starts while placing in four other stakes.

Discreet Marq wins the Columbus Day Pebbles Stakes at Belmont

According to trainer Christophe Clement, Discreet Marq will likely head west again for the Matriarch Stakes (gr. IT) Dec. 1 at Betfair Hollywood Park.

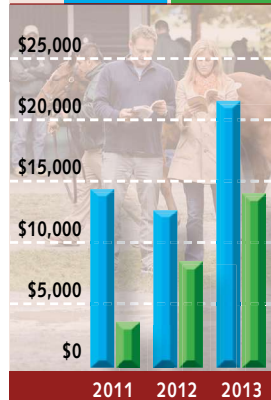

"She's a very nice filly who belongs to great people. I'm delighted for them," Clement said.

NEW YORK-BRED SALES AT THE FASIG-TIPTON MIDLANTIC SALE

Year	Average	Median
2011	$14,276	$4,500
2012	$12,745	$8,500
2013	$21,620	$14,000

New York-Breds Take Off at F-T Midlantic Sale

Demand for New York-bred yearlings soared at the Fasig-Tipton Midlantic yearling sale Sept. 30 in Timonium, Md. A year ago 55 Empire-state bred yearlings brought $701,000, good for an average of $12,745 and a median of $8,500. This year 54 New York-breds were reported for a gross of $1,167,500—an increase of 66.5%—and an average of $21,620—soaring 69.6%. The median vaulted 64.7% to $14,000.

Those are heady figures considering the entire sale was a 21.1% increase in gross, a 15.7% rise in average, and a 41.7% lift in the median.

'TASTE' LINGERS AT THE SPA FOR DRS. CHRIS AND PATRICIA PURDY

While it happened during the Saratoga meeting, the remarkable feat of a broodmare producing two New York-bred maiden winners at the Spa on the same day still needs to be noted.

Drs. Chris and Patricia Purdy's mare Acquired Taste pulled off the rare double July 28 when Purdy's Mike and Roy, a 4-year-old gelding by Bob and John, broke his maiden at the special weight level going nine furlongs in the day's fifth race and Thingamajigger, a 3-year-old colt by Holy Bull, broke his maiden against $20,000 foes in the 11th race.

Acquired Taste, by Scarlet Ibis—Cozumel Kitty, by Tom Rolfe, was bred and raced by Purdy. The 16-year-old mare has a yearling filly by Bob and John and was bred to Courageous Cat for 2013.

Fasig-Tipton Saratoga fall sale advances off last year's solid start

Mixed sale draws a crowd in upstate New York

SKIP DICKSTEIN PHOTOS

BY TERESA GENARO

In the summer of 2012, Fasig-Tipton announced it would resurrect its fall mixed sale in Saratoga Springs, N.Y., which had last been held in 2003. A year into the video lottery terminal era in New York, there was demand, said Fasig-Tipton's Terence Collier, for a mixed, open sale that wouldn't require buyers and consignors to travel out of state.

Following last October's sale, Collier, who is Fasig-Tipton's director of marketing, described the company as "delighted" with the results; this year, president and CEO Boyd Browning, Jr. said he was, in what might be considered an understatement, "very pleased" with the outcome of the Oct. 7 sale.

Strictly by the numbers, the sale surged from its 2012 figures. This year 179 horses were sold, a 50% increase from last year; gross sales were up 74% to $3,363,600, and the average saw a healthy advance of 15.6% to $18,791 from $16,249. The median price fell from $12,000 to $11,000.

Showing a greater depth of buyers and sellers realistic with their reserves was the RNA rate that tumbled to 23.2% from 40.8% last year. A year ago 82 horses failed to find new homes while this year the figure was 54. In addition, 20 horses were sold privately after failing to meet their reserve in the ring.

In the days prior to the sale, hopes were high among consignors around the Humphrey S. Finney sale pavilion, some of whom had shipped in horses from the Mid-Atlantic region to take advantage of the strengthening upstate New York Thoroughbred market, which has shown steady advances throughout 2013. Maryland-based consignor Bill Reightler brought three horses—a broodmare prospect and two weanlings, one bred in Virginia, one in Maryland.

"I think people in this business are opportunists," he said. "The sales have been very good all year, for every class of horse, and if it's a well-conformed horse, it's selling very well right now because there are less of them."

He sounded a theme that has been common at sales this year: though the declining foal crop that resulted from the 2008 economic downturn caused much consternation in the industry, it's reaping benefits of a sort now that the economy is recovering. With fewer horses in the market, buyers are snapping up the good ones for premium prices.

"The purses in the country have never been better," said Reightler, "so there are a lot of reasons for people to invest."

Local consignor Anne McMahon of McMahon of Saratoga Thoroughbreds agreed.

"People are seeing the effects on the purses at NYRA (New York Racing Association)," she said, walking her shedrows and placing "Registered New York-bred" stickers on horses' stalls. "More people want a New York-bred, but it was, for a while, awful hard to sell these mixed horses, the ones that didn't make se-

“If you’re thinking of racing at Aqueduct this winter, you want a New York-bred horse in your barn.”

Or in your breeding shed, as evidenced by the international sale of Grand Merger, a 9-year-old New York-bred mare purchased by Ever Union Shokai of Tokyo. Bidding by phone on behalf of an undisclosed buyer, Ko Saito of the Japanese bloodstock and shipping agency purchased Grand Merger for $60,000. A daughter of A.P. Indy, out of the Cox’s Ridge mare Immerse, Grand Merger is a full sister to Indy Glory, the dam of Artemis Agrotera, the New York-bred 2-year-old filly who won the grade I Frizette Stakes two days before the sale.

Writing from Japan, Saito said he purchased Grand Merger for a Japanese breeder. The mare is in foal to First Samurai and Saito expects she’ll be sent to Japan, but he declined to specify where and was unsure of the breeding plans for her for 2014.

“She’s a stakes winner and her dam family is excellent,” Saito wrote. Grand Merger won the 2006 Maid of the Mist Stakes at Belmont Park as a 2-year-old; her dam Immerse has produced eight winners from 11 foals, including Grand Merger’s full brother Stephen Got Even, a multiple graded stakes-winning millionaire and sire of 34 stakes winners, and full sister Indy Glory, second in the 2001 Black-Eyed Susan Stakes (gr. II).

Current Event, a 4-year-old daughter of Grand Merger by Curlin, sold in the same sale for $10,000 to Stephen T. Sinatra.

Ken and Sarah Ramsey, who have been racking up owners’ titles at race-tracks all year, including at Saratoga, earned the sale-topper title with a winning bid of $150,000 for Secret Union, a 3-year-old daughter of Dixie Union out of the Dynaformer mare Barney’s Mistress. Consigned by Kiaran McLaughlin for Darley Stable, Secret Union broke her maiden at Aqueduct in February and is winless in four starts since, but Ken Ramsey, encouraged by her third-place finish in the Road Princess Stakes at Aqueduct in April, intends to run her before retiring her as a broodmare.

“We’re going to try to win a stakes race with her,” he said recently at Keeneland. “She’s stakes-placed already. We might not be able to win in New York or at Churchill Downs or Keeneland with her, but maybe we can get her some minor league black type, and we may run her again next year.”

Because she will eventually be bred to the Ramseys’ stallion Kitten’s Joy it was her pedigree that got Ramsey’s attention.

“I liked the fact she matched up perfectly with Stephanie’s Kitten’s pedigree, with Roberto and Northern Dancer on the bottom,” he said. “Everything’s in place, and this could replicate Stephanie’s Kitten. We could get a $1 million yearling.”

Ramsey’s homebred Stephanie’s Kitten is a two-time grade I winner, having taken the one-mile Just a Game Stakes (gr. IT) at Belmont June 8.

As impressed as he was with Secret Union, Ramsey didn't think he'd have to dig quite so deeply into his pockets to get her.

"I thought we could get her for $75,000, but there was another breeder in Kentucky (bidding against us)," he said. "That was my last bid, but she's a nice one, and I'm glad we got her."

The top-priced weanling was a filly by Pioneerof the Nile out of the Pulpit mare Pulpit's Treasure. Brendan Gallagher went to $82,000 for the dark bay or brown filly bred by Hidden Lake Farm and Edward Simpson. She was consigned by Rhapsody Farm/Hidden Lake Farm, agent.

A half sister to two winners, the weanling is out of a stakes-placed runner who is a half sister to 1987 Riva Ridge Stakes winner Jazzing Around.

The sale's second-highest-priced weanling went to trainer Linda Rice, bidding for Lexicon Stable. The $75,000 filly by Flatter, out of Tres Chaud by French Deputy, was foaled in New York and is one of six horses Rice purchased, five of them weanlings.

"She was a beautiful filly," said Rice by phone from her Belmont Park stable. "I thought she was the best one in the sale, and I told my clients I thought she'd bring $50,000-$75,000, and she went for $75,000.

Rice also looked at the older horses of racing age in the sale, specifically the ones that Darley was selling through McLaughlin, and purchased Make Your Move, a 3-year-old Bernardini gelding out of the Skip Away mare Skip a Dare, for $65,000. Make Your Move has won three races in 11 starts and was fifth in this year's Dwyer Stakes (gr. II) at Belmont.

"I try to shop any opportunities and come away with some horses," said Rice. "I was happy to go up there and get five (weanlings), though, frankly, I wish I'd bought a few more."

Fasig-Tipton's Browning said that despite terrible weather on the weekend preceding and the day of the sale, this year's crowd was bigger than last year's and included higher-profile buyers and sellers.

"The quality of the stock has improved," he said, "and it's nice to sell quality horses from proven sires and dams, and to get the attention of high-profile owners and breeders."

He added that all the markets of the horses in the sale—weanling, horses of racing age, broodmares—were strong, referring, like Reightler, to increased demand for a smaller number of horses.

"We're also," he said, "getting a better-quality New York-bred horse."

And that, said Reightler, is what the success of any sale depends on: the quality of the horses in the ring, not on economic or other factors.

"Number one, it has to be a good horse," he said. 🐾

Saratoga Snacks, bred by Joanne Nielsen, wins the Empire Classic

Saratoga Snacks delivers Showcase Day glory to Bill Parcells' August Dawn Farm

BY PAUL VOLPONI

As August Dawn Farm's Saratoga Snacks was being led into the Belmont Park winner's circle after capturing the 38th running of the $250,000 Empire Classic Handicap, breeder Joanne Nielsen was feeling supremely satisfied.

"For any breeder, it's like having a child who's an athlete. I am very proud of him," said Nielsen, of the 4-year-old ridgling by Tale of the Cat out of the Red Ransom mare Near and Dear. "He was always gorgeous, and I'm absolutely thrilled today."

NFL Hall of Fame coach Bill Parcells, who led the New York Giants to a pair of Super Bowl victories and now races under the banner of August Dawn Farm, has trainer Gary Sciacca conditioning this superb equine athlete—a $60,000 yearling purchase at the Fasig-Tipton Saratoga preferred New York-bred sale in August 2010.

Saratoga Snacks, who finished second in last year's Empire Classic (1¼ lengths behind Lunar Victory), was coming into the race off a 79-day layoff.

"Bill asked me just one question—how is he training right now as compared to last year?" said Sciacca. "I told Bill that he's training so much better. He is aggressive. Once I put the glue-on shoes on him, it made all the difference in the world with him. Joel (Rosario) came out and worked him the other morning. He finished good and galloped-out strong. I said, 'Well, if he wasn't fit, that'll get him right there.'"

Sciacca, who in 1992 trained New York-bred Saratoga Dew (by Cormorant) to an Eclipse Award as champion 3-year-old filly, made the right assessment of Saratoga Snacks, giving his runner the "bottom" he would need to succeed.

Out of the gate in the Empire Classic, Saratoga Snacks broke alertly beneath Rosario, who had a firm hold on his charge, preferring to ration out his speed. Front-running Warrioroftheroses assumed the early lead, and after an opening quarter-mile of :23.67, Saratoga Snacks was relaxed just off the lead as Moneyin-your Pocket pressured the leader.

The half-mile was raced in a quick :46.67. Then, approaching the quarter pole, Rosario gave Saratoga Snacks his cue. The pair ranged up to engage the pacesetters while three wide. Rosario shook the reins turning for home, and Saratoga Snacks suddenly had a one-length lead on his seven other Empire State-bred rivals.

"I saw (Rosario) get down on the horse and open up. And (it looked to me as if) nobody was coming," said Sciacca, whose motor was still running on high after the race. "Then I saw the gray horse coming at the eighth pole."

That gray horse was Chester and Mary Broman's homebred Bigger Is Bettor—ridden by Angel Arroyo and trained by Rodrigo Ubillio. The 5-year-old son of Grand Reward was racing along the rail in seventh position after a half-mile. Arroyo then put the horse in the two-path, making a run into contention, before finding a seam at the top of the lane. Under steady left-handed encouragement Bigger Is Bettor came at Saratoga Snacks with giant strides through the final furlong.

But the classy Saratoga Snacks dug deep and held sway, posting a three-quarter-length win, covering the 1 $\frac{1}{8}$ -mile distance in 1:48.79 over the fast Belmont Park strip.

"You have to keep him motivated, keep him busy. You have to keep him

focused (through the stretch), said Rosario, who kept the winner to a hard drive in the final sixteenth. "But I knew that if somebody would come at him, he'd keep going. It worked out perfectly."

Saratoga Snacks has now won seven of his 10 career starts, having never been off the board (7-2-1). The win boosted his earnings to $464,600. The versatile runner has now been victorious at distances ranging between six and nine furlongs.

"Tale of the Cat—he's been very good to me. I've bred several stakes winners by him," said Nielsen, who does daunting research in creating her breeding matches, and used Tale of the Cat in this case because physically he was very much like Near and Dear.

"(Saratoga Snacks) has a full brother right now and we're going back to him (with the mare Near and Dear). Coach (Bill Parcels) bought him. His name is Baby Snacks and he's just been broken. When I first saw him, I said to myself I've never seen a foal this big, except for maybe his brother."

Saratoga Snacks is also a half brother to Puerto Rico grade III-placed Rajman (by Thunder Gulch). Near and Dear is out of a half sister to grade I winner Without Feathers, New York-bred standout Currency Arbitrage, and New York Derby winner Copper Mount.

Bigger Is Bettor, who has hit the board in eight of nine starts this season, including a win in the Evan Shipman Stakes, finished a solid second in the Empire Classic.

Francis J. Paolangeli's Money-in-your Pocket, from the barn of trainer Charlton Baker, lasted for third after pressuring the early pace. David Jacobson and Drawing Away Stable's Spa City Fever finished in fourth position. 🐾

Wired Bryan, Miss Narcissist strut their stuff

BY TERESA GENARO

On the newly re-christened Empire Showcase Day presented by The Fund at Belmont Park Oct. 21, a pair of 2-year-olds made imperial showings, dominating their competition to kick off a day of seven stakes races for New York-breds.

Having proved his mettle in open company at Saratoga this past summer in winning the Sanford Stakes (gr. II) by 5¼ lengths, Anstu Stables' homebred Wired Bryan returned to state-bred company after the end of the summer meet. He romped by seven lengths in the New York Breeders' Futurity at Finger Lakes Casino & Racetrack in September, then easily dispatched six rivals in the seven-furlong Bertram F. Bongard Stakes on Showcase Day, winning by three lengths under wraps by jockey John Velazquez in 1:22.83.

The win was Wired Bryan's fourth in six starts this year.

Anstu's Stuart Subotnick, who serves on the New York Racing Association's board of directors and is a member of The Jockey Club, purchased the colt's dam, Red Melody, as a 2-year-old at the 1998 Fasig-Tipton February sale. She made 14 starts for him, retiring in 2001 with eight top-three finishes that included two victories.

"Her career ended short, but she was really a decent horse," said Subotnick, "and she's thrown some nice horses for us."

Wired Bryan (by Stormy Atlantic) has two half brothers who each earned more than $100,000; six Red Melody foals who made it to the races are all winners. The mare, by Runaway Groom, has a yearling colt by Bernstein and a weanling colt by Tale of the Cat, and Subotnick intends to breed her back to Stormy Atlantic in 2014.

After breaking his maiden in a maiden special weight for state-breds in June, Wired Bryan went straight to stakes company in the Sanford. Beaten a nose next out in the Saratoga Special Stakes (gr. II), he ran his only bad race in the Hopeful Stakes (gr. I), a performance Subotnick attributes to the muddy surface.

"This horse showed a lot of talent when he was young," said Subotnick. "He looked very good, and this is important because he grew up at the farm. That's really special."

After Wired Bryan's rigorous 2-year-old campaign, Subotnick hasn't picked out a next start for the gray/roan colt.

"He's had a hell of a year," said the owner. "He's good enough (for open company), and as long as the track's not muddy, we're going to try it again."

Pleased as her connections were with Miss Narcissist's 5¼-length win in the Joseph A. Gimma Stakes for 2-year-old fillies, they intend, for the moment, to keep the Freud filly racing against New York-breds, pointing to the New York Stallion Series Fifth Avenue Division at Aqueduct in November.

The lightly raced daughter of Mighty Good (by Good and Tough) was making just her third start in the Gimma, and though she's won her last two races easily, she's still learning, according to co-owner John Bianco, Jr.

"She breezed great in the sale," he said, referring to the Fasig-Tipton Midlantic 2-year-old sale in May of this year, at which she was purchased for $97,000. "She looked like she was early, and we figured we'd run her in the first six or eight weeks we had her.

"She ran on time, but she looked crazy the first time out, bucking behind the gate. She's settled in with the blinkers, and that's been a big thing."

Running in blinkers for the second time, Miss Narcissist made the early lead under jockey Junior Alvarado and won as she liked, clocking the seven furlongs in 1:23.82.

Trainer Linda Rice, center, with the winning connections of Miss Narcissist

"For this race," said Bianco, "we were just trying to get her to switch leads down the stretch."

Miss Narcissist was bred by Tony Grey, who, said Bianco, bought out his partners at the Maryland sale. Trainer Linda Rice is a partner in the horse, and Bianco and his father, John Sr., purchased shares in her after the Maryland sale.

The Biancos run in the name of Acqua Nova Stable and have had horses with Rice for six or seven years. They currently have seven horses in training and purchased two weanlings at the Fasig-Tipton Saratoga sale in October. A horse they bred, Pie's First Lady, finished fourth in a restricted maiden race on Showcase Day.

The Biancos weren't the only family partnership in the Gimma; Miss Narcissist's win came at the expense of another Rice trainee, Champagne Ruby, who is owned by her father, Clyde.

"Listen," she said with a laugh, "I'm always rooting for my father. I won the first race of my career for my father, and I got my 1,000th win with him.

"I didn't have to apologize for beating him," she went on. "He's been in the game a long time, and he understands it well." 🐾

A Cluster of Winners

Cluster of Stars, King Kreesa keep it going on Showcase Day

BY PAUL VOLPONI

The owners of New York-breds can be amazing success stories, often succeeding with quality over quantity. Two such owners are Harvey Weinstein, who races under the banner of Turtle Bird Stable, and Gerald and Susan Kresa.

Weinstein has owned approximately 25 Thoroughbreds over his time in the sport. Amazingly, two of them have been New York-bred standouts—Haynesfield (winner of the grade I Jockey Club Gold Cup Stakes and grade II Suburban Handicap in 2010 and the Empire Classic in 2009 and 2011) and now the undefeated Cluster of Stars, who captured her seventh straight victory in the $150,000 Iroquois Stakes on Empire Showcase Day presented by The Fund.

Likewise, only two horses comprise Gerald and Susan Kresa's stable. One of them, however, is their homebred King Kreesa (winner of the grade III Poker Stakes and second behind Wise Dan in the grade II Fourstardave Handicap), who was a powerful victor of the $200,000 Mohawk Stakes Oct. 19 at Belmont Park.

"I have a small stable. The odds of me having a horse like Cluster of Stars is probably one-tenth of 1%," said Weinstein, a Brooklyn native who is thrilled to race in New York.

Trained by Steve Asmussen and sent out by his New York assistant Toby Sheets, Cluster of Stars simply rolled over her five rivals to score a 3/4-length gate-to-wire victory while attempting the seven-furlong distance of the Iroquois for the first time.

The blazingly fast 4-year-old daughter of Greeley's Galaxy, out of the Honour and Glory mare Babyurthegreatest, was well within herself setting a controlled opening half-mile in :45.54. In upper stretch, Willet, the eventual runner-up, began to advance on the leader. But Cluster of Stars put it into another gear, pulled away, and was being geared down late by jockey Javier Castellano.

The final time over the fast Belmont strip was 1:21.87, as Cluster of Stars shouldered co-highweight of 124 pounds. Bred by Michael McPoland and Sean Finn, the winner has now earned $549,600.

After another flawless performance the question surfaced—did Weinstein have any regret over not shipping his speedster to Santa Anita for the Breeders' Cup?

"No regrets. It's the health of the horse. I think that's a winnable race (the Breeders' Cup Filly & Mare Sprint, gr. I) for her. Every race she's in is a winnable race. But if you want to keep her going? If you go out (to California), who knows how she comes back. So that's it," said a satisfied Weinstein.

On the flip side of that coin, Gerald Kresa is considering big travel plans for King Kreesa, including a possible start in the Hong Kong Gold Cup (HK-I), part of the Hong Kong Jockey Club's International Races in December.

Coming out of a disappointing performance in the Joe Hirsch Turf Classic Invitational Stakes (gr. IT)—a race in which he never held the lead—King Kreesa, a devout front-runner, was forced to sit behind fast early fractions in the 1 $\frac{1}{16}$ -mile Mohawk. A longshot leader took the field of 11 through an opening six furlongs in 1:10.02, while King Kreesa bided his time in second position.

Turning for home, King Kreesa assumed the lead under jockey Irad Ortiz, Jr. and then withstood a serious threat from Aliyu Ben J Stable's Lubash. Under confident handling, King Kreesa posted a 1 $\frac{1}{4}$ -length victory in 1:39.26 over the firm turf course.

A 4-year-old gelded son of King

Cugat out of the Storm Creek mare, Storm's Advance, King Kreesa registered his sixth win from 17 starts, increasing his earnings to $657,370.

Trainer Jeremiah C. Englehart was absent, attending the baptism of three of his four children. But assistant Elizabeth Dobles filled in superbly.

On his breeding of King Kreesa, Gerald Kresa noted, "The sire and the dam both had speed and they could both run on the turf. (King Cugat) was distance and (Storm's Advance) was more of a sprinter. So I put them together and hoped for the best."

Palace on the Hudson

Trainer Linda Rice showed how astute a horsewoman she can be, having reached in to claim Palace for owner Antonino Miuccio back in October 2012.

"WinStar had put him on their cull list to be sold at a sale in Kentucky.

King Kreesa wins the Mohawk under Irad Ortiz Jr.

And I thought they were just trying to win a race with him (when they dropped Palace into a maiden $20,000 claimer)," said Rice. "I trained his father (City Zip) and he was a special horse. I knew I could expect good things from him. But he bled through Lasix on me. So I turned him out for a couple of months. When I brought him back, he took a little longer to get in shape than I thought he would. But I knew he had something special under the hood there."

Palace proved Rice's confidence

Gerald Kresa is considering a start in Hong Kong for King Kreesa

Patsy Symons (hat) and trainer Rick Violette Jr. (far right) enjoy Effie Trinket's hard-fought victory over Sally's Dream in the Ticonderoga Stakes worthy as he registered a gutty 1¼-length come-from-behind victory in the $150,000 Hudson Handicap at six furlongs.

Fleet sprinters B Shanny and Cay to Pomeroy knocked heads on the lead through a contentious opening half-mile of :45.62. Into the lane Moonlight Song, from the barn of trainer Charlton Baker, seized the lead. But Palace, who had gained serious momentum after swinging four-wide beneath jockey Cornelio Velasquez, closed in on the new leader with resolute strides. Moonlight Song drifted out through the final sixteenth, brushing with Palace and taking him into the middle of the track. But Palace overcame that as well, pulling clear 70 yards from the wire.

The final time was a swift 1:08.97.

The winner, bred by the Peter J. Callahan Revocable Trust and out of the End Sweep mare Receivership, notched his seventh win from 13 starts, boosting his earnings to $352,050.

Albert Fried, Jr.'s Moonlight Song finished a solid second in the Hudson, amid the field of six runners.

Food for Thought

It's not a dietary regiment of which trainer Rick Violette, Jr. completely approves. But, yes, Effie Trinket, tenacious winner of the $200,000 Ticonderoga Stakes at 1⅙ miles on the turf, does feed on the occasional sugar-glazed donut.

Owner Patsy C. Symons' family runs the Dunkin' Donut concession at Saratoga Racecourse, and the 3-year-old filly by Freud was nearly named Effie Runs on Dunkin' in recognition of her sweet tooth. Instead, Effie Trinket was named for a character in the novel Hunger Games. That was a much more appropriate name, considering the desire this filly has shown to find the winner's circle.

After an early tracking-trip in the Ticonderoga, Effie Trinket found a seam in the two-path at the top of the grassy lane and seized the lead in the field of 10. Inside the final furlong, however, Sally's Dream, owned and trained by Randi Persaud, forged ahead, looking like a winner with a sixteenth remaining. But Effie Trinket, beneath jockey Luis Saez, refused to be denied and came back to win by a nose while being pinned down along the rail.

The final time over the firm turf was 1:42.45.

Effie Trinket, who is out of the Editor's Note mare Maya's Note, was bred by McMahon of Saratoga Thoroughbreds. She has now won six of 10 starts and has earnings of $432,150.

"Rick (Violette) and I went to the sale and purchased her (at the Ocala Breeders' Sales Co.'s April sale for $130,000)," said Symons, who also owned the superb New York-bred Gitchee Goomie. "I live in New York, and this is a wonderful (Showcase) day. You'd be foolish not to buy a New York-bred." 🐾
